

113.

Thunderstorm coming
Can feel my joints telling me
Man, getting old sucks

114.

I feel for my friend
Today should have been special
Sadly he is home

115.

Crazy special day
Vows on a video screen
True love can't be stopped

116.

Making them clean up
Forcing them to be better
Eye rolls every day

117.

Old fashioned in a glass
Just sipping away the day
Is Jack Daniels in my friend?

Sometimes when things get rough, you just need something simple to help get you through it. For me, it was a simple favorite drink with my favorite Tennessee whiskey. Instantly taking me to better days. I know they will come back. In time.

118.

All things forgotten
Snuggles and bedtime kisses
I will be better

119.

What did I just watch
Undertaker just jumped the shark
Wrestlemania

120.

The sun is now up
Just don't know what day it is
This has to end soon

121.

The humming machine
Wife sewing new face-masks
Is this the new norm?

122.

You stupid ass fly
Why must you land here on me
About to crush you

123.

A quiet night home
Calm that I can't figure out
I used to love it

124.

Sleep finally came
But was it what I wanted
Dreams no longer soother

125.

Got the call today
"Come and say your last good-byes"
I am now a shell

194.

Pause for reflection
Life quietly passes us by
Not yet my twilight

195.

New journeys are hard
A road made of fear and doubt
One step at a time

196.

A dream unrealized
Hours of life sacrificed
Journey just begun

197.

Morning breeze wakes me
filling sails for adventure
today not charted

198.

Oh my cicadas

Have you all now gone away

Sad, but I miss you

As someone who suffers from tinnitus, I found the sound of the seven-year cicada's very soothing. Now that they are gone, the only thing left for me is the constant ringing in my ears.
